

The Ogden Standard

Established 1870.

WM. GLASMAN, Publisher.

THE BURNING OF THE RECORDS.

This morning the people of Ogden were introduced to Salt Lake political methods. They were given a sample of the work of a political brigand who, halted at every turn and made to show his face, has resorted to a manufactured sensation.

The Examiner, in head lines larger than are employed to call attention to a mighty battle in Europe, tells of the "burning of the police records" during the last days of the Glasman administration. Who ordered the burning is not disclosed but it is charged that the offender was "the man higher up." The article is worded so as to avoid an action for libel and yet convey the idea that the Chief of Police or some one "higher up" committed the offense. By the time The Standard has finished with this vile innuendo, the whole scurrily outfit responsible for the slander shall have cause to regret their base, coarse, outrageous falsifications.

The Standard feels equal to the task of driving home the issue with such force that the men guilty of this deliberate lie will be thoroughly discredited in this community.

The authors of the libel in the Examiner have overlooked two or three important points essential to their story.

First, they have forgotten that Thomas E. Browning did not cease to be Chief of Police until several months after the end of the last Glasman administration; that between the time Wm. Glasman gave up the office of Mayor and Chief Browning turned in his star, T. Samuel Browning had become the head of the department of public safety, had inspected the records and accepted the same. Chief Browning did not clean his desk of his personal letters and effects until several months after Sam Browning had become the head of the police department. Had there been any records missing, Samuel Browning should have been aware of the same, otherwise he displayed stupidity or gross carelessness. It is four years since the records are supposed to have been burned. Has Sam Browning during all that time been too indifferent to inquire as to those records, which we are told were necessary to determine what had been done with fines, forfeitures and bail money? Did Sam Browning allow the office of Chief of Police to be turned over to him without first inquiring as to the stewardship of Thomas E. Browning? Did he fail to ask for the books in which it is said a record was kept of moneys received and paid out? If he did, is he a man fit to be again entrusted with the position of head of the department of safety, which includes the entire police force?

Second, Hagbert Anderson, a close personal friend of Sam Browning, was bail commissioner during the last year of the Glasman administration. If his records were destroyed, he should have been one of the first men to make the discovery. He would have reported the destruction to Sam Browning. That was four years ago.

Third, no money was collected by any member of the police force during the Glasman administration, other than by the bail commissioner. The municipal court books should show a complete record of fines, forfeitures and bail money, so that even the destruction of the books said to have been burned would not have concealed police irregularities, if there had been grafting, and, therefore, the burning of those records would have been barren of results. This is a point the conspirators have overlooked.

This latest canard by the Examiner should be ample evidence that the Fell-Browning people feel hopelessly unable to successfully answer the articles appearing in The Standard and, in desperation, have decided to carry on a campaign devoid of honor, decency or truth.

CAN THEY FOOL THE PEOPLE ALL THE TIME?

Editor Standard.—Since my return to Ogden, after being gone over twenty years, it seems that I am here again at a time when the misdeeds of A. G. Fell are the talk of the city, as they were when I left Ogden over twenty years ago. At that time A. G. Fell had just voted to give away Ogden City's waterworks as the chief of the City Council representing the Jarvis-Conklin Co.'s interests. I return and find he has given away the most valuable franchises Ogden City ever possessed, namely: three fifty-year light and gas franchises, and the stories now circulating are the same kind of stories that were circulated over twenty years ago, and

I Wonder:

If the people will stand for a continuation in office of a man who has twice betrayed the people, first, in giving away Ogden City's waterworks and, second, in giving away the light and gas franchises, and

I Wonder:

If the dust A. G. Fell and T. Sam Browning are kicking up is going to cloud the eyes of the people of Ogden to such an extent as to cause them to cast their votes again for the creatures of the great utility corporations.

I Wonder:

If the people are going to be bamboozled into believing the story that the Fell and Browning workers are telling to the people of each home, that The Standard is opposing their candidates for office because they would not help build the South Fork Reservoir, and

I Wonder:

When the people are to believe Fell and Browning; in the first address, when they stated that the South Fork reservoir was a valuable thing and that it was found in Mr. Glasman's possession after he retired as Mayor, or their new address, which has appeared for the last three days in the Ogden Examiner, stating that the South Fork project is no good, that they had condemned it, and that it was not worth anything, and that they refused to have anything further to do with it; that after the city had condemned and abandoned it some three or four months after Mr. Glasman's term of office had expired, Mr. Glasman bought it and filed on the water rights? How these two contradictory statements will be swallowed by the people, I cannot imagine, and yet

I Wonder:

If the last bombshell that has been thrown in the face of the public by the free distribution of the Ogden Examiner all over the city this morning, will fool the people. Funny isn't it. For four years T. Sam Browning has been at the head of the Police Department and he never discovered that part of the police department records were missing until this morning. I'll bet my best jack knife against a turnip that Bill Glasman will go to the City Hall and dig up all the records of his administration filed nicely and snugly in the auditor's and recorder's office and that this last bombshell will be found to have been another fizzle, and then

I Wonder:

How this story will be accepted by the voters of Ogden. Fell and Browning's hired workers are whispering from house to house that if Heywood and Jones are elected they are going to open up the town. This seems to be a campaign of misrepresentation and pure gall, the like of which Ogden has never before witnessed. But they say the corporation hirings must be elected, even if it takes a wagon load of money to do it, and

I Wonder:

If the people can be bamboozled into voting for the corporation servants a third time.

(Signed) I WONDER.

E. T. HULANISKI MAKES PLAIN THE POSITION OF HEYWOOD

He Sets at Rest a Number of Misstatements Circulated by the Fell-Browning Workers—Judge Announces the Position of Candidate for Office.

Chairman E. T. Hulaniski at Heywood headquarters, made the following statement this morning:

"There is nothing whatever looking to any change in the matter of controlling the vices in this city."

"No person has been or will be promised any place in the incoming administration by reason of influence or anything else and there will be no such promises."

"No collection of funds has been made or attempted by the committee or any one in their behalf for this campaign."

"Campbell and Williams say they favor municipal ownership. The present commissioners say that the city is so hopelessly in debt that it could not buy anything in fifty years. So that is not a live issue. I may add that, if the present administration is continued, that when the time comes for the blowing of the trumpet for the final accounting, that then the city will not be in a condition to buy even a toy railroad."

"There will be no reduction in working people's wages. A fair day's pay for a fair day's work; that is the motto."

"The commissioners in their campaign statement say they expended $10,000 to find out that the reservoir proposition was no good, and then it was abandoned. The auditor's statement shows that $36,000 was put in to the reservoir. Further $70,000 belonged to the water fund at a time when bonds to the amount of $75,000 were asked and authorized for the water fund, making a shortage in city funds to that amount; which means that sum had been used in the general fund."

CASES ARE SET FOR HEARING IN NOVEMBER

This morning the following cases were set for trial in November in Judge J. A. Howell's division of the district court:

State of Utah vs. Arthur M. Cornell, embezzlement, November 3.

Frank Gross vs. George A. Lowe company, law, November 22.

Eckles Lumber company vs. H. A. Skupe, law, November 4.

Claude M. Dee vs. San Pedro company, law, November 19.

Max Daniels vs. Nels L. Peterson, et al., law, November 8.

Kieselberg company of America vs. James Coal & Ice company, law, November 24.

Volker vs. Barend Uvack et al., law, November 25.

Joseph D. Barker vs. Amelia M. Barker, divorce, November 11.

Dr. Reinhold Kanzler vs. Sam Ambler et al., appeal, November 12.

Enoch Fuller vs. Earlgriffin Ferrin et al., law, November 16.

Elizabeta J. Folker vs. Jedediah M. Folker, divorce, November 29.

William Bailey vs. Sidney Stevens Implement company, equity, November 5.

Max Daniels vs. Emery A. Smith et al., law, November 8.

Ashman Rose vs. Oregon Short Line company, law, November 17.

A. L. Kuhn vs. Joseph Zimmerman et al., law, November 9.

HONORS FOR STUDENTS OF THE WEBER ACADEMY

Miss Venice Jones of the Weber academy class of 1915 gave an interesting talk this morning at the regular academy assembly. The young lady graduate is now a student at the Utah Agricultural college, and, in the course of her remarks, she told of the high honors that had been bestowed upon former Weber academy students at the state school this year. Ray Becraft, she said, has been elected president of the junior class; Alma Wilson, manager of the A. C. football team and president of the agricultural club, composed of all of the agricultural students of the college; Irvin T. Nelson, secretary of the "Quill" club; Ronald Jensen, president; Fielding Barlow, athletic manager, and Harold Browning, sergeant-at-arms of the Freshmen class, the largest in the history of the school.

Miss Jones' further remarks were of appreciation for the preparatory college training she received at the Weber academy and the happy days and evenings she passed in the society of her fellow students.

Another special feature of the assembly was the introduction of the Weber academy double-mixed quartette, which is composed of Professor Joseph Ballantyne, the members are Josephine Shorten, Clara Brough, Pauline Malan, Margaret Johansen, H. A. Dixon, W. N. Manning, Benjamin Young and Wilford Moench. They rendered two selections, each of which was greeted with enthusiastic applause.

ELDER L. W. LARKIN AT THE THIRD WARD

Elder Lyles W. Larkin, who was engaged in missionary work for the Mormon church in the Netherlands at the opening of the European war, gave an interesting address in the Third ward meeting house last night as the feature of the monthly con-joint session of the ward Mutual improvement associations. The meeting was conducted by Counselor Mabel Jensen of the Y. L. M. I. A. and the invocation was offered by Elder Leslie H. Van Dyke.

The musical program was as follows: Tenor solo, "Those Lost Happy Days," Edward Saunders; duet, Clara and Ethel Bowns; violin solo, "Sous le vent" (Drdla), Marcus Critchlow; tenor solo, "Bethlehem," Edward Saunders. The piano prelude was played by Bessie Lee Draper and the accompaniments by Mrs. Edward Saunders, Jeanette Bowns and Verna Van Dyke.

The theme of Elder Larkin's address was "Missionary Experiences in the Netherlands" and the talk was full of interest to the large congregation, the young missionary proving to be an unusually fine public speaker. In the course of his remarks, he related an incident in which he was one of the principals in a splendid tribute to the memory of Edwin H. Woolley of Bountiful, who died in Holland while working as a missionary. The incident happened, he said, at Lortrecht, where he and a companion were arrested shortly after the outbreak of the war. They told the chief of police the purpose of their being in the Netherlands and, in answer to a question, mentioned Edwin H. Woolley as a missionary who had previously worked in Dorrecht. At this, the police record of foreigners was brought into the room, the name of Elder Woolley was found and opposite it was a report to the effect that he was one of the most upright young men ever lived in the city. Immediately after this was read, Elder Larkin and his companion were released from custody and permitted to go to Amsterdam, whither they had been called by the mission president.

SERMON IN THE BAPTIST CHURCH

At the First Baptist church last night, Rev. George F. Lowe delivered a sermon on the subject of "The Planting of Jehovah." His text was Psalms 92:12-15: "The righteous— they are planted in the house of Jehovah. They shall flourish in the courts of our God."

In part, he said: "When people understand as they should that the returns they get from life are the fruitage from their own planting there will be greater care as to what they put into life's sowing."

"There are people that have no place for praise in their life. There is no psalm. Martin Luther once said, 'Come, let us sing a psalm, and drive away the devil.' But unless one knows a song of praise how can he sing it, and if there is nothing back of the words and note he may be singing, it would be better to keep still."

"The real reason for praise is the depth of gratitude for what has been done for us. The psalmist says, 'I will triumph in the work of Thy hands.' It was the victory that brought the praise."

"The man that has no song of praise has evidently been planted in the wrong place. He may be a philosopher and yet so brutish as not to know his maker."

"No praise in that life that has no Creator, or Redeemer. He who lives it is brutish and has descended even below the brute that perishes, because he goes down of his choice."

"Some parents are so foolish as to think that if they get their children planted in society, their future is secured, and altogether too often this is true. But what of their future? Some will plant their children on the streets and expect model citizens of them, but it is not often that they turn out that way."

"God, who created man, would plant a man in the house of Jehovah, that he may flourish in the court of our God."

"There is a temporary flourishing of the wicked, but it is that they shall be cut down, to perish as the grass. 'They bloom to fade.' One palm tree will outlive a hundred seasons of grass and flowers that spring about its roots. So will it be with the righteous, when Jehovah has planted not for a season but an eternity."

WEBER COUNTY FARM BUREAU BEING ORGANIZED

Directors of the Weber County Farm bureau, Saturday afternoon, decided to begin the organization of farm bureaus in each of the towns of the county, and to that end a meeting will be held at Marriott tonight to organize a bureau there. Tomorrow night an organization will be perfected at Farr West, and on Thursday night North Ogden will be organized.

The town organizations will be adjuncts to the county organization and all will work as a unit for the good of the entire county. The town associations will be separate and distinct and it is expected that district interests will be handled in such way that they will be presented to the county organization in the most forceful manner.

The county bureau directors will soon decide upon the time and place for institute work, as they were advised Saturday that the following professors of the Agricultural college will devote a week to institute work in the county at a time suggested by the bureau:

Professor John T. Caine—Subject: Livestock.
Professor R. J. Evans—Subject: General Extension Work.
Professor L. M. Winsor—Subject: Irrigation.
Professor Ben R. Eldridge—Subject: Dairying.
Professor E. B. Brossard—Subject: Farm Management.

Miss Gertrude McCheyne and Miss Cooper—Subject: Home Economics. It was suggested at the meeting Saturday that local talent also be called into service in institute work, the proposition being that A. P. Bigelow discuss the relationship of banks to farmers; John Felt to talk on dairying; R. M. Rasmussen on horticulture; S. S. Jensen on the relationship of the Ogden Provision & Packing company to the farmers; D. D. McKay on county farm bureau work; Gilbert Thatcher on dairying; Lydia H. Tanner of the Weber Academy, on domestic science and Verna Bowman of the Ogden high school, on the same subject.

JOHN V. BLUTH ON STAKE PRESIDENCY

At a meeting of the Weber academy board of directors, held Saturday night, John V. Bluth of the North Weber stake presidency, was selected to fill the vacancy in the board caused by the death of the late President Charles C. Middleton. Following his selection, Mr. Bluth was elected secretary of the board.

The late President Middleton was a member of the academy board from the time of its organization until his death and the question of naming his successor has been carefully considered for a number of weeks. The selection of Mr. Bluth was announced yesterday and, on account of his recognized ability to handle administrative and clerical matters, it met with general approval among the church people.

Read the Classified Ads.

CERTIFICATES FOR SCHOOL TEACHERS

Ten Ogden school teachers were granted certificates by the state board of education last week, out of a list of 70 from different parts of the state.

Florence Lucas received a high school certificate and June Andrews a temporary high school certificate. Two-year normal certificates were granted to Mary Morgan and Florence B. Wall and special certificates for the teaching of music were received by Marcellus Smith, Margaret Grill and Veda Farley. Others receiving certificates to teach in various branches of mechanical and commercial science were Grace Atkinson, typewriting; Claramay Browning, sewing; George W. Brunton, mechanical arts.

Read the Classified Ads.

WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Charles J. A. Lindquist departed yesterday for San Francisco, where he is to attend the annual convention of the National Funeral Directors' association, as the representative of the Utah association. The convention is to be held October 12 to 15, inclusive, and its purpose is to create a closer co-operation between members and to discuss problems of state and national interest to the association.

Mr. Lindquist is secretary-treasurer of the Utah association, which was formed eight months ago. Before returning home he will visit in Los Angeles for a few days.

SUIT COMMENCED ON PROMISSORY NOTE

The Wright-Whittier company has commenced suit against Emmett and Nora Annis and the Inland Canning company for $9648.86, alleged to be on a certain promissory note bearing date of February 27, 1914. The note is secured by a mortgage, which the plaintiff seeks to foreclose.

The note was drawn for $8000, but it is alleged that accrued interest and other incumbrances has increased the amount of indebtedness to the sum sued for.

FAMOUS INDIAN BURIED AT FORT

Thousand Members of Wind River Reservation Attend Funeral of John Enos.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 11.—Indians to the number of 1000 yesterday attended the funeral at Fort Washakie, Wyo., of John Enos, 104 years old, the most noted Indian of the Wind River reservation.

Enos served as guide for the Mormons in their pilgrimage to Utah in 1846-47.

ORPHEUM SHOWING ALL SERIES PLAYS

The first electric baseball player ever in Ogden will operate at the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday and played the full game of the world series between Philadelphia and

THE OGDEN THEATER LAST TIME TONIGHT

The keenly interesting and splendidly produced drama by Paul Armstrong and Winchell Smith—

"VIA WIRELESS"

GAIL KANE AND BRUCE McRAE in "VIA WIRELESS."

In addition, the laughable Keystone Comedy—"OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS."

THE OGDEN THEATER

"The World's Greatest Photo-Plays."

Boston. The magnetic ball and miniature lights, for the men worked with such precision on every play made, that the audience was carried off its feet several times with enthusiasm for their favorite teams. In watching this player through a game one can almost imagine oneself on the grounds, so perfect are the various movements and plays. The player will be in operation again today, when the game begins at noon. Go and see it if you want to watch a real game of baseball without going to the grounds.—(Advertisement).

TALITHA REHBERG SUES FOR DIVORCE

Talitha Rehberg has brought suit for divorce against her husband, Paul Rehberg. The parties were married on the 24th day of February, 1908, and have no children. The action is brought on the ground of desertion.

A line of Coatings, Silk Plaids and Dress Goods just came in at Paine & Hurst's.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Judge William H. Reeder, Jr., president of the Weber stake Y. M. M. I. A. board, was the principal speaker last night at the opening of the conjoint meeting of the 1915-16 season of the Kanesville ward associations. The meeting was held in the Kanesville ward meeting house and was largely attended. Miss Pearl Burton also addressed the meeting, speaking of the work being done in the Bee Hive girls' classes and outlining the plans for the new season.

In his talk, Judge Reeder told of the many opportunities for betterment that were placed before the young people of the present day, most of which, he said, are slipping past the unobservant. Too much time, he continued, is being devoted to the things that are easy to do, resulting in tearing down of character, whereas Utah's Great Star, Lucy Gates, in her Grand Opera with 60 Artists at the Orpheum Theater Next Wednesday Night. Seats Now Selling. 50c to $1.50.